The Nearly Wins

The latest election returns indicate that Mr Washburn has been re-elected, but with a much smaller majority—the latter being reduced from 10001 to around 650. Mr Lindy won nearly 100 votes over his figures in the 1921 election; and this in a contest where there were some 300 votes less cast. The two Liberal candidates did not, together, poll many more votes than that polled by J Miller in 1921—647. Mikie says that if the Liberal forces had combined on one strong candidate, the chances of leaving Mr Washburn at home would have been fairly good.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr D. Pattie, Rocky Mountain House, is in Stony today.

Mr Henry Henkel left this week on a visit to his brother at Portland, Oregon.

Mr R B Brooks is in Victoria B.C., this week, with the Edmonton staff of The Sun Life Co., attending the company's convention there; the party going by special train. Mr M B McColl is with the bunch.

During the busiest hour in Stony's shopping district on Saturday night the electric light plant closed down, cutting off the light, owing, it is said, to the severe electric storm raging at the time in Hong Kong.

The electric lights went out Saturday night during the progress of the Lundy meeting and the switch was not turned off. When the current was turned on Sunday evening the hall became illuminated. Someone startled the sidewalk politicians by telling them their opponent was holding an election eve meeting.

Mr Philip Trapp has purchased an Essex six coach from Phil D. Fuhr. Mr John Dieholke went in to town on Saturday and came back with a nice new coat.

St. Matthew's School ball players gave the junior team at the Public school a game Friday last, on the local diamond. Score: St. Mat's 12, Public Juniors 6. Batteries—St. Mat's, J Miller p, W Brede c, Fudlick, A Davis p, Edmond Lory c. Mr Hy Trapp of Edmonton umpired the game in a satisfactory manner.

Walther League ball players tangled with a team from Golden Spike Friday night last, with the result that the Spikers secured 9 runs to the League's 6. Walther League were to have played Stony Plain ball team at the Beach on Sunday, but the game had to be called off. Walther League will play Garden Valley at the Fair Grounds today.

Practice has commenced for the plays to be given by the Walther League next month, in Stony. Three plays will be produced: the first play is called "At Harmony Junction," followed by two plays containing a bunch of coons, "The Booster Club of Blackville" and the "Darktown Fire Brigade." There will be a number of surprises in these for local Theatre-goers and no doubt the Hall will be crowded when the plays are produced.

Agricultural Wealth Of The Prairies

In this year when the twin Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan will celebrate their coming of age as autonomous units in the Canadian Confederation, it is not only interesting but appropriate to note the truly amazing progress made by Western Canada in a space of time so brief as to be considered but a passing moment in the life of a nation. When the West was first opened to settlement with the advent of the C.P.R. predictions were made that a great future awaited it, and these were renewed when twenty-one years ago the Old North West Territories passed and the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta came into being. But even the most optimistic could hardly foresee such growth as has actually been recorded.

Twenty-one years ago Manitoba had a population of about 300,000, and in creating the two new Provinces they were each credited with an estimated population of 250,000. As a matter of fact the census the following year disclosed a much smaller figure. Compared with less than 700,000 population in the three prairie provinces in 1906, it is confidently predicted that this year's census will show a population of approximately two and one-half millions.

According to a recent estimate by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the gross agricultural wealth of Canada in 1925 was $7,832,942,000, almost one-half of which was credited to Saskatchewan and Alberta. Although the youngest of all the provinces Saskatchewan occupies second place in gross agricultural wealth, being exceeded by Ontario only, while Alberta and Manitoba occupy fourth and fifth places respectively. The gross agricultural wealth of Saskatchewan last year is placed at $1,826,833,000, Alberta at $1,092,187,000, and Manitoba at $696,495,000. These are remarkable figures for such a young country, still in the initial stage of its development.

In annual agricultural revenue the strong position held by Western Canada is even more strikingly indicated. In land values and value of farm buildings the older and more populous provinces of Ontario and Quebec naturally outrank the West, but in the annual value of agricultural production the Western Provinces take a high place. The total agricultural revenue of Canada in 1925 is placed at $1,708,567,000, of which the three prairie provinces produced $693,720,000, Saskatchewan being credited with $416,022,000, or only $51,000,000 less than Ontario, Alberta with $245,862,900 and Manitoba $142,046,000.

In field crops, Saskatchewan comes first with Ontario second, Alberta third and Manitoba fourth. Ontario and Quebec lead in farm animals with Alberta third. In poultry and eggs Ontario and Quebec also lead, with Saskatchewan third. Alberta is fourth in the production of wool, while Manitoba occupies third place in the production of honey. The Western Provinces are out of the running in the production of fruits and vegetables, leadership in these lines belonging to Ontario followed by British Columbia, Quebec and Nova Scotia in the order named.

Considering the fact that the new twin provinces of the West were not quite nine years old when the Great War broke, and the unsettled and difficult years which have since intervened, the progress of the West cannot be regarded as altogether remarkable. It speaks volumes for the capacity of the country itself and the capabilities and energies of the people, while giving promise of a growth, development and prosperity within the next decade or two unsurpassed in all the past history of the Dominion.

There has been a consistent rise in agricultural revenue since 1921 following the unprecedented high war prices of 1918, 1919 and 1920. Equally gratifying is the definite tendency towards a greater diversification of crops. No longer is it possible to sum up Canadian agricultural revenue under the two headings of field crops and livestock. Dairy products, poultry and eggs, honey, fur farming and other pursuits now represent a respectable sum in the total of the Dominion's annual production of wealth.

One year, hence Canadians will celebrate the diamond jubilee of Confederation. The Dominion is destined to become a greater and greater country with ever increasing confidence and pride in the country, under conditions of expanding trade, increased development of natural resources, greater industrial activity, marked advances in production along many lines, and particularly in agriculture and allied pursuits, a growing population, and increased financial power and general prosperity.

The Western Provinces are only just beginning to make their contribution to the growth and prosperity of the Dominion. No section of the Dominion will have a greater contribution to make in the years immediately ahead, and not in material things alone will that contribution be made, but a leadership in all things which make a people truly great, in statesmanship, in the arts and sciences, in the world of religion and social service. The record of the past two decades is but the promise of the future.

Industrial Research

National Council of Women Advocate Retention of Trained Men and Women

A report prepared by Mrs. Ora MacKay, of Montreal, for the committee on Immigration and colonization, was read by Mrs. Charles Thorburn at the National Council of Women conference held at Vancouver. The report pointed out that statistics showed that the universities of British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Quebec and Dalhousie alone have contributed a total of 1,108 trained graduates to the body of States in less than ten years.

It was resolved that the National Council of Women endorse the proposed legislation as taken from the speech from the throne, regarding the matter of an industrial research organization, and to petition the government to subsidize the said organization for a period of years with the view of retaining the trained technical men and women to build up the nation.

The Decline In Democracy Representative Government Would Appear To Be In Serious Danger

It is becoming more and more evident that representative government is in a very serious danger. It has been destroyed to all intents and purposes in Italy, in Spain, in Russia and in Greece. In Italy, in Russia and in Greece, according to a recent expert, its future cannot be regarded entirely confidently; and even in this country and the United States anti-democratic forces have manifestly increased and multiplied, since the war—London Daily News.

Says Plants Have Brains

Noted Indian Physiologist Has Conducted Many Experiments
Sir Jagadisa Chandra Bose, the noted Indian plant physiologist, has perfected a device that, he says, accurately measures the nervous impulses of a plant's fibres. He contends that vegetables feel, react and almost think in the same way as animals, but to a lesser degree. As a result of his experiments, Sir Jagadisa asserts, he has become convinced that plants have brains, and that their thought processes can be ascertained.

Paris Scientist Working On Discovery For Auto Fuel

The town pump is coming back to usefulness. A Paris scientist is working out a discovery which, if it can be applied, promises to revolutionize economic production for the world. According to the professor, it is a mere matter of time and a question of making the necessary calculations in order to catalyze water and build a water-driven internal combustion engine, or to catalyze any other body to transform the forces produced into engine-driven, productive machinery.

"We shall catalyze water," he says, "and you will have automobiles driven by hydrogen engines. That is a mere matter of time to establish plans. As soon as calculations are made to catalyze water for gasoline, France will be freed from foreign bondage for her motive power. Preliminary formulae must be established. They will revolutionize modern industry."—Kingston British Whig.

DELICATE GIRLS NEED NEW BLOOD

Which Can Be Had Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Nature intended every girl to be happy, active and healthy. Yet too many of them find their lives adduced by suffering—nearly always because their blood is to blame. All those with colorless cheeks, dull skins and lustreless eyes are in this condition because they have not enough red blood in their veins to keep them well and in the charm of health. They suffer from depressing weariness and periodical headaches. Dark lines form under their eyes, their heart palpitates violently after the slightest exertion, and they are often attacked with fainting spells. These are only a few of the miseries of bloodlessness. When the blood becomes thin and watery it can be enriched through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the troubles that come from poor blood disappear. In almost every neighborhood you will find some formerly ailing girl who has a good word to say for this medicine. Among them there is Miss Ida M. Wilbrow, Harwood Lands, N.S., who says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did more for me than all the other medicine I took, and I cannot praise them too highly. When I began the use of these pills I was in a terribly run-down condition, very thin and very pale. My appetite was gone, and I had a tired, worn out feeling all the time. Doctor medicine did not seem to improve my condition and I was getting greatly discouraged when a friend advised me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. After some urging I decided to do so. After taking the boxes I felt like a new person. I gained weight, had a good color, and an improved appetite, and the constantly tired feeling that had made me so miserable was gone. I took a few boxes more before I stopped, and by that time I had never felt so well in my life. I shall always feel very grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and strongly recommend them to those who are run-down."

You can get these pills from your druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada Must Not Relax In Offering Inducements To Settlers From British Isles

The report of the British overseas settlement committee for 1925 shows how little Canada can afford to relax its activity if it wishes to fill its vacant spaces with Old Country stock. Whether it is recognized or not, there is considerable rivalry for these settlers. This country has to contend with the charms and the chillings of Australia, and so far, does not appear to be getting the better of the bargain, says the Toronto Globe.

Last year put of 45,000 persons who left Britain under the overseas settlement scheme. It was Canada that Australia got 25,427 and New Zealand 8,651, while 116 went to South Africa. So, if there is a disposition to believe that Canada can sit back in comparative ease and await the arrival of a new population, even with the advantages and assistance offered, it should not be continued.

Australia is not overlooking any opportunity to get settlers from the British Isles. It is extending just as interesting inducements as this country, and is alert in following them up. Notwithstanding the new rates put into effect in this country—£3 to eastern ports and £9 to British Columbia—our friendly rivals on the other side of the world are ready to meet us. They have recently announced that they have reduced the amount of £34,000,000, to be apportioned among the various states of the Commonwealth, to assist in settlement. This is expected to provide for the admission of 430,000 immigrants, including 34,000 families, within the next five years. And Australia has considerable to offer new arrivals when they reach their shores.

This bidding for immigrants is of decided advantage to those seeking new lands to conquer. Unassisted migration is falling off. It is evident that the country which shows the greatest energy and offers the greatest aid is going to get the people; and there is some chaffing in the Old Land over the restrictions imposed—no much, in fact, that it will be a subject of consideration at the next Imperial Conference.

With this existing competition the whole question of immigration promises to take on added importance. Canada will have to be alive to her interests, but at the same time cannot afford to let down the bars to all who wish to come, or to go beyond the limits of reason in extending assistance. The country needs people, but the kind who will help themselves when given an opportunity.

The Red-Backed Cutworm

Summerfaller Method of Control is Recommended

The red-backed cutworm, which feeds upon a wide range of food plants, is the most widely distributed and generally destructive cutworm in Canada. It is a constant hazard to crops in the prairie provinces, and is the most important kind of cutworm in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. In view of these facts the Dominion department of agriculture has issued a new bulletin on the red-backed cutworm and its control in the prairie provinces. It is pointed out in the bulletin that fully half of the damage caused by cutworms to field crops and ninety per cent. of that to garden crops can easily be prevented if the proper means of control are adopted. No spring-sown crops immune to cutworm injury are known, but fall rye is recommended as a resistant crop. In the bulletin, which may be obtained from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, the value of poisoned bait, sown in fields, is emphasized, and a summer-fallowing method of control is also recommended. This consists in cultivating frequently during spring and summer to bring weeds under control. Heavy crops in maintenance during a section of harvest behind the plough, but otherwise leaving the surface as rough as is practicable, with due regard to moisture and conservation. Allow the land to rest and remain unworked until after the first week in September, then cultivate to destroy the weeds. The essential point is to have the fallow crusted the period of flight of the moths, from about July 20 to September 5, in order to make the insects susceptible for chrysalis.

U. S. Farmers Bought Seed

Growing Demand Is Shown For Canadian Registered Seed

Farmers in the mid-Western States of the United States bought up practically all the available registered Canadian alfalfa seed last season, paying a considerable premium over the home grown seed, plus a duty of four cents a pound.

This statement from Peter Stewart, secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, is given in a recent report showing the increase in business being done by the association. Mr. Stewart says there is a growing demand from many lands for samples and quotations for Canadian registered seed which seems to point to possibilities for a flourishing export trade within the near future.

Recently the association shipped a big consignment of Canadian registered Marquis wheat and Banner oats to the Argentine Republic.

Sheep Farming Favored

Desirable Form of Agriculture For Southeast Section of Alberta

Abandoned farms in the southeast of Alberta are being picked up cheaply by farmers, and it is reported that a favorable eye is being turned on sheep as the most desirable form of agriculture for the district. There is plenty of range for the small bands now in that country, and the chief concern of the stock owners is to raise enough winter feed for them. Corn appears to be one of the best crops in that direction. Many are planting sweet clover with their grain crops also, planning on pasturing this, or using it for hay next year.

Hint For Beekeepers

Deceiving bees with a new type of honeycomb adds greatly to the profits of beekeepers, according to the inventor of the device. By lessening the time needed to manufacture comb, it is said to enable the bees to double the output of honey. Aluminum combs are painted with beeswax.

The Cattle Industry

Western Progressive Advocates Putting Cattle On The Free List

The real way to assist the cattle industry of Western Canada is to get the United States to remove the duty or reduce it, G. O. Coote, Progressive member, Macleod, Alberta, told the House of Commons committee on agriculture. Mr. Coote said that the logical reason for certain classes of Canadian cattle was, in the United States, and that the closing of the market had been a serious blow to the industry in Western Canada. He favored putting cattle on the free list, but if that was regarded as impossible at present, he advocated making the Canadian tariff exactly the same as that of the United States with the definite provision that when that country made a reduction, Canada would follow suit. Canada was not afraid of competition from the American cattle, he said.

Colonel H. A. Mullins, Conservative, Marquette, opposed any move which would admit United States cattle to Canada. He feared that this would bring disease and infect the Canadian herds. The best market for Canadian cattle was in Great Britain, he said.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative, Victoria, expressed the opinion that the United States would keep the tariff against Canadian cattle as long as it considered it in their interests to do so.

Mr. Coote stressed the importance of appointing a Canadian trade commissioner at Washington who would be in a position to look after the interests of Canada when legislation affecting this country came before congress.

Eggs Used In Tanneries

Special Mixture Valuable In First Process of Leather Making

Eggs that are worthless so far as food value goes, are not wasted by the large dealers, but are covered with kerosene after being broken, treated with boracic acid and sold to tanneries for use in one of the first processes of leather making. The shells are removed by sieves and the egg mixture is placed in a revolving drum with the raw hides to make them pliant. New York World.

Results Of Another World War Would Be To Shatter Foundations Of Civilization

Poultry Industry Is Aid To Population

Also Helps to Build Up More Prosperous Race

"The poultry industry will help to stem the tide of population from the country to the city and even across the border," declared Edward Brown, D.L.S., of London, England, speaking before the Provincial Poultry Association at the Veterinary College in Montreal.

Prof. Brown, who is president of the International Association of Instruction in Poultry Husbandry, is making a tour of Canada in the interests of the World Poultry Convention, to be held at Ottawa in the summer of 1927. "The poultry industry will help us to build up a better and more prosperous race," he asserted, and showed it would provide a great deal of profitable employment, especially in Canada, where opportunities are endless.

Several thousand delegates representing nearly all civilized countries, are expected to attend the congress, which is the third of its kind. The first took place in The Hague in 1921, the second at Valparaiso, in 1924.

R. J. C. Stead, director of publicity in the immigration and colonization department, stated that the benefits of the congress by no means were confined to poultry interests. The great number of visitors, particularly from Europe, would see in Canada a land where democracy and peace reign, and not a single defensive measure was necessary to keep harmony. It would also show them two great races with different languages—French and English—living together in like harmony.

Nurse Got Her Instructions

A student nurse, inexperienced in reading the clinical thermometer, was horrified when, taking the temperature of a patient, that instrument apparently registered 128. She hurriedly dispatched a note to the doctor, reading, "Please come at once. Mr. Jones' temperature is 120." The doctor did not come, but he sent this message, "You had better read for the five engine. I can do no good." The Argonaut, San Francisco.

New Clan Donald Settler Shows Initiative

One of the many interesting features of the recent general strike in England was the achievement of the shorter family, natives of Birmingham, who arrived recently in Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama. Mr. Shorter had made arrangements to sail from Glasgow, but owing to the strike he was unable to get a train and there were only ten short hours in which to get the boat. The head of the family, having sold his effects in the Old Country, possessed a certain amount of cash. He bought a motorcycle with a side car, bundled his wife and two kiddies, baggage and dog and all, into the vehicle, and made the 200-mile trip to Glasgow in eight hours. This left the thirty Mr. Shorter two hours in which to dispose of the motorcycle, and he did so at a comfortable profit. Commenting on Shorter's accomplishment, Father R. A. Macdonnell, who brought the party out on the Metagama, said it showed a spirit of initiative which would stand the family in good stead in their new venture in Canada. Inert shows Father Macdonnell, pioneer of the Clan Donald settlement scheme in Alberta.

Sometimes it seems as though, the great tragedy of the Great War, had sunk below the threshold of the consciousness of our public men, says the New York Times. Petty fears, hostilities, formulas, resentments, difficulties have overtaken the memory of what happened to Europe and the world after Aug. 1, 1914. Since then, though such criticisms and cautions and anticipated difficulties with regard to the future may be, they shrink to their proper proportions when scaled against the possibilities of another world conflict.

In the war the European belligerents lost 8,500,000 in killed and wounded, to say nothing of the vast array of crippled and disabled. The United States spent two and a half times as much as on all of its previous wars. In nineteen months of aerial hostilities we disbursed the equivalent of 81 per cent. of the total expenditures of the United States Government from 1791 to 1918. The money cost to Europe was, of course, far heavier. The total has been placed by the federal reserve board at 200 billion dollars. Exports have reduced this amount to free war or gold values, of which 10 billions would fall to our share. What does the loss of 70 billions mean to the nations of Europe? It is equivalent to the entire national wealth of Great Britain at the outbreak of the war, to something less than the joint national wealth of France and Italy. For all the European belligerents the war burned up approximately one-quarter of the aggregate national wealth.

What another world war would mean, nobody can foretell. There is the certainty of more deadly instruments of destruction than were employed in the last war. The nations have developed additional lethal poison gases. Experiments are conducted with disease-bearing bombs. There are submarines already in existence with a cruising radius of 35,000 miles, tanks that travel twenty miles an hour, super-cannons and aeroplanes, intended to submarine blockades against the food of an entire nation, aerial bombardments on a grand scale, sinking no account of civilian populations, heavy guns throwing shells for a distance of 100 miles—it is plain that no one can foretell, in terms of arithmetic, what the casualties of another world conflict would be.

It is among the high probabilities that the political and social order of Europe, overthrown by Russia by the late war, badly shaken over the rest of the continent, would not survive another catastrophe. The present order will go and in its place will assert themselves the doctrines of Lenin. The peoples of Europe, overtaken by another calamity like that of 1914, will not stop to balance the costs of war against the costs of communism. Rage and despair will send the peoples of Europe into the Bolshevik abyss. What that would mean we may conjecture from what it has meant to Russia. There the Communist experiment has cost more lives, in a single country, than the total of 8,500,000 dead for all the belligerents in the World War. National wealth in present-day Russia it is impossible to estimate. But not unfriendly observers have reported that the Russian people's standard of living is one half lower than before the war. What the results of a similar experiment in the industrialized nations of Western Europe would be cannot be estimated, but can be summarized. Mr. Keynes speaks of Western Europe, under communism, going down into the pit of death.

Round up Of Wild Horses

Now Staging What May Be Last Event Of This Kind in the West

What may be the last wild horse roundup now in progress in the stretch of territory between Medicine Hat and Stander, and between the Bow and Red Deer Rivers. The animals that are caught are checked over. Those that are useful are kept, those that are not are destroyed. The bands of wild horses have increased in the last few years, and they have become a nuisance to the ranchers.

Eczema on Head Itched Badly. Cuticura Healed.

We began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a short time could see an improvement. We continued the treatment and in less than six weeks she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. A. G. Aweck, 706 Notre Dame Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 4

EARLY LEADERS OF ISRAEL: FROM MOSES TO SAMUEL

Golden Text: Jehovah will not cast off his people. Psalm 94:14.
Lesson: Exodus 1:1-14.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 94:10-17.

Explanations and Comments

The Reason for the Oppression of the Israelites, verses 8-10.—"Not to know one's" means to tolerate ignorance not to acknowledge his authority or influence. Several centuries had passed since the death of Joseph, and a new Pharaoh was on the throne in Egypt, who, although he may have heard about Joseph and his services, to Egypt during the years of famine, feels no obligation to spare his descendants because of those services. The new Pharaoh, who is believed to have been Rameses II., said to his people, "Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we." This is a greatly exaggerated assertion. The marginal rendering is, "The people of the children of Israel are too many and too mighty for us," that is, for our future welfare.

"It is by such exaggerations and alarms that all the worst crimes of statesmen have been justified to consenting peoples. And we, when we carry what seems to us a rightful object by infaming the prejudice and misleading the judgment of other men, are moving on the same treacherous and slippery inclines." (Dr. A. Chadwick).

Airship's World Flight

Proposal to Make a Non-Stop Flight Around the World in Dirigible

A vast airship is being partly constructed at the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, with which it is proposed to make a non-stop flight round the world. She is designed to carry an immense load of fuel. Starting from the airship base at Seville, Spain, she will head out across the Atlantic, angling until she is in a westerly airstream. When Central America is reached the airship will seek suitable currents for her crossing of the Pacific, after which it will be the aim to manoeuvre into an air-stream from the east, and so regain the starting point in Spain.

Running her engines at moderate speed, so as to economize fuel, and profiting wherever possible by favorable winds, it is calculated that the non-stop world flight will be accomplished in about 22 days. If the airship now being built is to be German-owned, it should be noted that ever since the peace, German aircraft construction has been restricted by allied regulations, which seriously increase the difficulty of building an airship capable of such a flight. A conference is in progress in Paris for the abolition or modification of these restrictions.

Should Show Courtesy

American Tourists Fail to Display Canadian Flags on Cars

"The people of Canada desire to welcome motor tourists from the United States in the most cordial manner, but these visitors would greatly help to create a friendly atmosphere for themselves if they would show a sense of courtesy in displaying Canadian flags on their cars. They exact the most punctilious observance of this rule from visitors to their country, and they ought to be prompt to recognize the same amenity when they come to Canada. Courtesy in such things is a mark of good breeding as well as of international good will."—Brantford Examiner.

New Turbine Engine Invented

Driven By Dynamoes and Uses an Inexhaustible Fuel

A new principle turbine type engine which can propel a vehicle 500 miles at the cost of $2 has been invented, claims F. J. Taylor, 21-year-old physics student of Toronto. Taylor says his invention is driven by dynamoes and uses an inexhaustible fuel, the nature of which he refuses to divulge at present. It will develop plenty horsepower with only half the number of the ordinary motor's revolutions, he declares, and will also do away with the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning.

A Tribute To Britain

Has Learned Problem of Just Dealing Says Rabbi

That was a fine tribute paid by Dr. Wise, Rabbi of the New York Free Synagogue, to Great Britain at the Kiwanis convention when he said: "There is not a nationality, a religion, a tongue, a race on earth representative of which are not to be found within the British Commonwealth. As a student of life and history, I say to you that Great Britain has learned the problem of dealing justly with all its peoples and faiths and races and tongues as no other people have done up to this time."—Kingston Standard.

A Boy Artist Of France

Youngest Exhibitor in Paris Salon Only Thirteen Years Old

The youngest painter with a picture in this year's Paris Salon is Tony Ricou, the thirteen-year-old son of M. Georges Ricou, director of the Opera Comique in Paris. Tony is still attending high school and does his painting on Sunday and Thursday, the days there is no school in France. He sent in two pictures and the National Society of Fine Arts accepted one, a still life, showing a bowl of fruit on a table.

RAILWAY RATE CASE IS ARGUED BEFORE BOARD

Regina, Sask.—Suggestions for the removal of the alleged discrimination in freight rates, favoring Winnipeg over other prairie distributing points, was made to the Board of Railway Commissioners by W. H. McEwen, appearing for the province of Saskatchewan on behalf of the boards of trade of Regina, Yorkton and Moose Jaw. The discrimination was said by counsel to exist in the fact that Winnipeg had the full advantage of a fictitious mileage that was assumed between Fort William and Winnipeg, while points beyond the latter city had the advantage only as far as Winnipeg. These rates were calculated on an actual mileage.

The difference, said Mr. McEwen, in filing comparative statements, meant that on goods shipped from Fort William over the C.P.R., Winnipeg had a rate reduction of 23 per cent, while westward this reduction decreased until by the time it got to Qu'Appelle the percentage was down to 12, at Saskatoon it was 10 per cent, and at Calgary 4 1/2 per cent.

What the province wanted, said Mr. McEwen, was removal of the unjust discrimination. How this was to be accomplished was up to the board, but among the various solutions that might be offered that of removing the fictitious mileage altogether and setting up a new freight rate structure which would divide the advantage equally among all the prairie points seemed to be the most equitable.

Welcomes Famous Flier

New York Gives Tumultuous Greeting to Commander Byrd

New York.—Lt.-Commander Richard E. Byrd, Jr., leader of the first expedition to fly over the North Pole, upon his return, home received a tumultuous greeting in which representatives of the nation, state and cities joined. Thousands jammed the waterfront at the Battery and lined the sidewalks of Lower Broadway to catch a glimpse of the polar hero.

Led by two bands, one representing the navy and the other the New York National Guard, the procession started up Broadway.

Prominent among the welcome were members of Lieutenant Commander Byrd's own family: His mother, his six-year-old son, Richard, and his wife.

Crowds roared their ovation as the procession moved along the famous thoroughfare at high noon.

Soldiers' Lands Bill

To Provide For Revaluation of Soldier Settlers' Land

Ottawa.—The senate gave third reading to the government bill to provide for the revaluation of soldier settlers' land.

As the bill now stands soldier settlers will apply to the settlement board for revaluation and if no agreement can be reached the settler can carry an appeal to the exchequer court. The governor-in-council is empowered to make regulations or to modify or dispense with the rules and practice of the exchequer court in order that that body may deal with revaluation cases. The decision of the court will be final.

Resumed Air Mail Service

Man Aged Sixty-eight Substitutes For Regular Pilot

Chicago, Ill.—A 68-year-old aeroplane pilot hopped off from Maywood Field resuming the Chicago and Twin Cities Air Mail Line, which had been disrupted for a day by failure of the regular pilots to report for duty. The aged pilot was Charles Dickinson, contractor, who declared that the temperament of a few youthful pilots could not hold up the air mail to Minneapolis.

Port Arthur, Ont.—The steamer, Glenagelea, on its last trip to Port Arthur, lost its anchor and was unable, in spite of diligent search, to recover it. Recently the Glenagelea came into port and dropping its new anchor, found it hooked onto the old one, which was thereby recovered.

Will Fight Miners' Leaders

Lord Brinkhead Charges A. J. Cook With Attempt to Blackmail Society

London.—Following closely upon a decision of the Labor party to offer strenuous opposition to the government's new bills which have as their purpose the reorganization of the mining industry, the Earl of Brinkhead, secretary for India, has delivered a verbal broadside against A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation.

Cook was charged by Lord Brinkhead of slinking at the destruction of the coal mining industry and nationalization of the mines.

Lord Brinkhead said he and his colleagues were fully determined that if they were driven to it by this attempt to blackmail society by men who declare they have a stranglehold on the vital chords of industry, we shall once again, sorrowfully but resolutely, find ourselves for a great struggle. We shall not permit the nation to be destroyed.

"We, who have broken down every despot in Europe," Lord Brinkhead added, "will not be broken down by men who take their biddings from a discredited revolutionary junta in the most poverty-stricken country in Europe."

Union Of Municipalities

Swift Current.—Over 100 delegates were in attendance at the Union of Municipalities Association annual convention. Twenty-one years ago the association was created and during the sessions many congratulations were showered on the officers and the membership for the work it has done during its life.

Chief Justice Brown of the Court of King's Bench, the chief speaker at the opening session, sounded the keynote of the work of the association when he spoke of the responsibilities of the thousands of men in the province charged with municipal effort and enterprise. He congratulated the municipalities of the province on having a clearing house for opinions and discussions and ventured the opinion that this particular organization and others engaging in municipal work were part of the foundations upon which the province has been safely and wisely built.

Canada and the League

League of Nations Has Now Cost Canada $1,500,000

Ottawa.—After stressing the importance and achievements of the League of Nations, Sir George Foster in the senate declared it was the duty of the government to put in the hands of members of parliament each year details of the government's relations with the league. He had informed the senate each year of the league's work, but, said Sir George, the correspondence between the government and Dr. Riddell, liaison officer at Geneva, should be available to parliament.

Senator Casgrain replying said that Canada had spent $1,500,000 on the League of Nations, and while the League was seven years old, there were more men under arms today than before the Great War. It has not been conducive to peace, he said.

May Be Raised Again

Scarcity of British Ships Affect Rate On Grain Shipments

London.—Rates on grain shipments to the United Kingdom from North and South American Atlantic ports, already increased through the scarcity of British ships in operation owing to the coal mining stoppage, are expected to be boosted again unless there are indications the miners will soon return to work. Rates on shipments from Canada have increased a little less than three cents.

Need More Warships

London.—The defenses at Sydney, Melbourne and other Australian ports are inadequate at present, and more cruisers like the two now being built are needed, according to Rear-Admiral P. H. Thompson, a member of the Royal Australian Naval Board, who is now enroute to England.

Rural Credit's Bill

Ottawa.—The government's rural credit bill passed the senate committee on banking and commerce, and now stands for third reading in the upper house.

LLOYD GEORGE IS NOT LOOKING FOR LEADERSHIP

London.—Speaking on the "future of Liberalism" at a luncheon of the National Liberal Club, former Premier Lloyd George, Liberal parliamentary leader, kept his audience in roars of laughter by humorous sallies and sly digs at his political opponents.

He declared his ambition was not for leadership, but for service, and added: "At the same time, I do not want to ruffle anybody's feathers, but I want to say quite firmly that I am not going to allow myself to be driven out of the Liberal party."

Alluding to Winston Churchill's recent utterance that Lloyd George's attitude in the general strike marked the beginning of Lloyd George's downward course, the former premier remarked that so far as he could see, the downward course began when he stopped Mr. Churchill's "mad adventures in Russia," and said ironically, "Since then I have touched the depths by mixing with archbishops and such like" in suggesting that conciliation was a good thing to settle the general strike.

Winston Churchill retorted later in the evening by rebutting Mr. Lloyd George's allegations of "mad adventure" relative to the allies' support of Kolchak and Denikin, by stating that these promises of support were given by the Supreme War Council of 1919, of which Mr. Lloyd George himself, Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Clemenceau were the leading members, and he would not rob Mr. Lloyd George of any credit on this score.

Elevators Practically Cleared

Saskatchewan In Good Shape to Handle New Crop

Regina.—Saskatchewan's elevators are now ready to receive in their thousands of bins the fruits of the forthcoming 1928 crop.

Reports incoming at both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways state that all grains are now practically cleared out and the elevators ready to store up the new crop. Less than 375,000 bushels of all grains now remain in elevators of the Regina division of both railways, many of the points holding less than 200 bushels. Less than 24 cars of grain are being moved each day from the province not only.

Practically no loading is being done at any points despite the fact that the wheat pool cut-off comes into force on July 15, the date on which all 1925 wheat must be in the country elevators and settled for or billed out.

Douglas, Ark.—Positive identification of a woman here as Mrs. Almee George McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist who was reported drowned there May 18 last, has been made over the telephone by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, in conversation with William F. McCafferty, editor of The Despatch.

On their return from the convention this party will travel through Canada via Canadian Pacific lines, stopping at Winnipeg, Toronto and other cities.

Western Financing Methods

Municipalities of Western Canada Are Showing the Way to Those of East

Vancouver.—"Municipalities of Western Canada are showing the way to those of Eastern Canada in the handling of their finances," declared C. P. Felt, one of Canada's leading authorities on public financing, on his arrival in Vancouver as a member of the Investment Bankers' Association party, which recently held its annual meeting at Jasper Park.

"The British Columbia in particular," he said, "the municipalities have been reducing their debt in actual amount, and the same is true in Saskatchewan." In Eastern Canada, especially Ontario, the reverse tendency is true.

"The provincial governments of the western provinces have also been showing a healthier tendency in the handling of their finances."

About 100 members of the association are spending several days in Vancouver before the eastern members return home. A few of their number, including President R. H. Daly, went north to Alaska from Prince Rupert.

To Settle Vacant Lands

Hudson's Bay Company Will Formulate Immigration Policy

Victoria, B.C.—The Hudson's Bay Company, which owns vast tracts of land throughout Western Canada, is gathering material on which to formulate an immigration and settlement policy. It became known here, with the arrival of J. McWhirter, of the company's London, England, office, to confer with E. H. Wilson, land commissioner of the company.

McWhirter explained that the vast possibilities of bringing out settlers from the crowded parts of the British Isles and settling them on the idle lands of Canada were under consideration. He said his present trip was for the purpose of gathering information.

Locarno Peace Pact

London Is Interested in the Canadian Viewpoint

London.—The debate on the Locarno peace pact in the Canadian House of Commons, in connection with Premier Mackenzie King's motion that parliament must pass on treaties before they are ratified by the cabinet, aroused much interest here.

The Express declares that a useful purpose would be served if all the parliaments of the empire, including the British House of Commons, followed Canada's example in face of the obligations involved.

B.C. Lumbermen's Wage

Vancouver.—Effective November 1, all men engaged in the lumber industry of British Columbia will receive a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour, according to an announcement made by the board charged with administration of the new male minimum wage act.

Approximately 40,000 persons are employed in these operations.

NEARING END OF THE COAL STRIKE IN GREAT BRITAIN

London.—Indications of early negotiations for coal peace were seen in the inqutious Prime Minister Baldwin of postponement for a week of action on the bill authorizing eight hours of work in the mines. Meanwhile the bill for the reorganization of the mines is being pushed. It is said to be the result of a bargain between the Laborites and Premier Baldwin.

If Labor is satisfied with the reorganization plans, it may not be necessary to proceed with the eight-hour bill, as miners may agree to accept a small reduction in wages for a period rather than an increase in hours.

Herbert Smith, president of the miners' federation, in speeches recently declared a wage reduction to be better than an increase of hours.

Secretary Cook, of the miners' federation, is still asserting "not a penny off; not a minute added," but there are strong indications that the miners are getting tired of Cook, and it is freely predicted in labor circles that as soon as the strike is over he will lose his job.

The principal feature of the miners' reorganization bill is amalgamation of the mines.

Compromise On New Flag

South African Government Likely to Accept Suggestion of Labor Party

Cape Town, South Africa.—The controversy over the government's proposed new South African flag, the design of which would have excluded the Union Jack, has assumed a new aspect.

The national council of the Labor party a few days ago passed a resolution that there should be equal official recognition of two flags, one a symbol of the empire and the other a symbol of South Africa nationality.

A deputation from the council has now interviewed Hon. The Hon. Minister of Justice, and the executive of the Nationalist party at Pretoria. The latter have expressed complete satisfaction with the Labor party's resolution, and moreover have pledged the full support of the Nationalist party to this resolution.

As it is by means of a pact between the Nationalist and Labor parties that the government of Premier Hertzog is in power, the government may accept this compromise.

Prince Celebrates Birthday

Heir Apparent Receives Messages of Congratulation From All Parts

London.—June 23 was the Prince of Wales' thirty-second birthday and flags were flying throughout the country in his honor. The bunting displays were particularly brilliant in the west end of London, where the Prince's residence was inundated with messages of congratulation from all parts of the world. He had luncheon with the other members of the royal family at Buckingham Palace and a private dinner party for close friends at his own home, York House, St. James' Palace.

Discuss Red Lake Railway

Bill Granting Charter to Private Company Fails to Pass Committee Stage

Ottawa.—For a third time the bill to incorporate the Red Lake and North Western Railway has been "talked out" in the house.

Twice a week the first hour after dinner routine is devoted to private bills by recital. At nine o'clock, the house resumes the order of the day automatically. The Red Lake bill, which would give a charter to a private company to build a road into that mining district, had failed to pass committee stage twice.

Is Appointed Chairman

Ottawa.—The minister of labor has appointed Mr. Justice Lamont, of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeals, to be chairman of the Board of Conciliation in the Winnipeg electric dispute. The other members of the board are P. Dixon, of Winnipeg, representing the employees, and J. B. Coyne, of Winnipeg, representing the company.

Edmonton Exhibition.

"The biggest and the best Fair ever held in Edmonton" is the consensus of opinion of those who are familiar with the arrangements for the Edmonton Exhibition and Historical Pageant, July 12 to 17.

There have never been such outstanding head line attractions. The famous H.M. Coldstream Guards Band, universally recognized as one of the premier military organizations of the world, will in itself be worth a great deal more than the cost of admission.
There is a grand Historical Pageant, celebrating the coming-of-age of the city and province, with a cast of 600 persons, all working together in a mass of color and a maze of movement on a huge, specially constructed stage. This mammoth spectacle will tell the thrilling story of the development of Edmonton and western Canada.

Other attractions include district exhibits of agricultural and dairy products from a number of electoral districts in northern and central Alberta; some of the finest grand stand attractions ever seen in the west; the renowned Johnny J. Jones midway shows; exceptionally brilliant fireworks displays; horse races each afternoon; valuable collection of oil paintings from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; championship cat and dog shows; special races for canaries; and special sweet pea displays.

1. The church. 2. The Sinclair's Canyon on Windermere Highway. 3. Bungalow camp at Windermere.

One can tell at a glance that the little church at Lake Wind-mere, British Columbia, has had a past—and proud of it, too! Nestled among great pine-clad ranges of mountains, on the shore of a silver lake, it is proud of its beautiful site, but prouder still of the way in which it came to be called the "Stolen Church."

How it earned this very unique name is recalled in a recent number of "The Monitor," by Mary Graham Bonner. It is a strange story of simple, devout people who so loved their church that they stole it, and carried it away for over a hundred miles.

When the Canadian Pacific Railway moved its divisional point from Donald to Golden, the inhabitants of Donald packed up and moved, too.
Some of them went to Golden, but a few followed the former construction engineer of Donald up the Columbia River to a place he had called was H-aven. It was pretty near it, anyway, this Lake Windermere with its shimmering waters reflecting the magnificent mountains. Here they settled, and built their dwellings, but not—no!—in spite of the great beauty of their new home, they could not be completely happy. They missed their little church on the windy hill back at Donald. Plans had been made for the construction of a new worshipping place at Windermere, but they knew that no other church could fill the place of the old one, so dear to them, now sleeping and forsaken, in the deserted village of Donald.

Up spoke the engineer, the leader of the little colony. He knew what they could do. They would steal it.
Move it away at night. Nobody wanted the little church but them, the people of Golden did not love
it as they loved it.

So the church was stolen: unshined, bound up and carried away one night—to Golden by train, thence on the river boat to Windermere.
The steeple and the bell, however, had to be left behind, and by the time they had returned for them, the people of Golden had wind of the affair, and they were nowhere to be found.

The bishop of New Westminster, too, learned of the theft of the Donald Church and was moved to righteous indignation. He wrote a letter to the Windermere commanding the communicants to return the church, or suffer the consequences of the episcopal wrath.

But at Windermere, they were far too busy, every one of them, and too happy, to pay much attention to His Grace's admonition.

Windermere has grown since the Canadian Pacific railway ran a line through from Golden and built a bungalow camp nearby, and the automobilists pass by in their thousands from Banff and Spokane, and the communion roll of this primitive little church has swelled considerably. It has a steeple now and a bell, too, but until this day, it still proudly bears the name of the "Stolen Church."

Manx Oath Is Extraordinary

Pledge Required Of Deemster of Isle

The following is an extraordinary oath taken by the deemster of the Isle of Man, on entering office.

"By this Book, and by the Holy Contents thereof, and by the Wonderful works that God hath miraculously wrought in the Heaven above and in the Earth beneath, in six days and seven nights, I, the person being sworn do swear that I will without respect, favor or friendship, love or gain, consanguinity or affinity, envy or malice, execute the laws of this Isle justly betwixt our Sovereign Lord the King and his subjects within this Isle, and betwixt party and party, as indifferently as the herring's backbone do lie in the midst of the fish! So help me God and the Contents of this Book." This oath has been taken by many deemsters for a thousand years.

DOUBLEMINT

After every meal

was a mirror of all her mental transformations, nodded her head.

"Yes, Jo, it's funny, but maybe it's not so funny, either. Sometimes I don't sleep nights thinking about you girls, you and George and the others. I've got and had. I'd try to be a mother to all of you, it'd let me, but you never would. George told me, the day before yesterday or, maybe, it was the day before, that mothers were too old-fashioned for up-to-date girls to be bothered with. She said that mothers who were any good were like fanny underwear. I was well, I think she said, but didn't have class."

"Yes, that's like 'George,' Joanna agreed, from her place on the floor. "But I don't think she's really in bad. She's in with a crowd that travels pretty fast, and she hasn't got enough sense to know when she's skidding. But you don't always have a smarm when you skid, you know."

Mrs. Adams knew only vaguely what Joanna was trying to say. She'd given up, long ago, her struggles against the language of her young lady roomers. "Are you really sure, Jo," she asked, her words coming slowly, "that you haven't had, when you call a smash?" "All that money you had in your pocketbook, and you say there's more besides. You know—!"

Before the steady gaze of the girl on the floor, the landlady faltered. The eyes that stared at her made her uncomfortable—uneasy with her doubts. "You see, Jo," she argued, plaintive in her self-justification, "the things a girl like you talks about, and knows about, and the places you go! George wears her clothes too tight and she says that what girls are supposed to do nowadays. And you wear dresses that you ought to never cross your knees in—you oughtn't to sit down on the floor, it's worried me a lot, and you smoke, Jo, and I've heard you swear, too. That's why John was ready to believe—!"

"You mean that's why you believe, too?"

"I won't believe, if you tell me it isn't so, Jo. I'll just believe in you, and I'll take back the money you gave me." Suddenly the landlady was confused. "I'm sorry, Jo, but I put the five hundred dollars, and nobody knows what a God-send it would be to me, in the pocket of your old wrap. The coat's on your bed, now. If you say it came to you all right, like you say before, I'll take it, dear, and bless you for it."

She Could Never Do The Things Other Girls Did

Miss J. J. Rose, Sordland, Alta., writes:—"I am only twenty years old, but have suffered from heart palpitation and nerve trouble for several years."

I could never do the things other girls did, that is, in the line of sports, and I could never depend on myself at work.

About six months ago I began taking and am just twice the girl I was, and can do up everything in general life so much more. I am very grateful for what your pills have done for me."

Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Joanna scrambled out, her feet, straightened her rock, brought a strap that had fallen back, onto her shoulder and, without a word, ran up the stairs to her room. When she re-appeared she held the bill. She put it into Mrs. Adams' hand and folded the worn fingers about it. Neither she nor the landlady spoke. Mrs. Adams pulled the bobbed head down and blazed it.

"For once," Joanna remarked, when she straightened up, "I want a drink. I'm going to wait until George comes in. If she makes it early enough, and if her boy doesn't get the air too quick I'll buy them a last while we wait an all-night boozler."

George arrived, early—only one o'clock. Her companion of the evening was sufficiently equipped to supply Joanna's unobscured need, and glad of the excuse for lingering over his dismissal. Joanna's bitterness was mellowed, but far from banished, when a streak of gray, stealing across the court of sordid backyards, warned the two pyjama-clad girls propped up in Joanna's bed, that if they were to have any sleep at all against the excitement of the day to come they must get between the covers and trust to the household to awaken them. Many houses had been built, some of stone that were destined to stand forever, some cards that would be blown away.

SIXTEEN YEARS USE OF BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Has Shown One Mother There is Nothing to Equal Them

A constant use of Baby's Own Tablets for their children has proven to thousands of mothers that they are without an equal for babyhood and childhood ailments. One mother, Mrs. C. W. Jackson, R.R. 1, Clifton, Ont., writes:—"We have used Baby's Own Tablets ever since our first baby was born sixteen years ago. We have seven fine healthy children and the Tablets is the only medicine they received in their early years. Our baby is one and a half years old, is walking and talking and weighs 25 pounds. Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine he has ever had."

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely safe for even the newborn. They are free from opiates and narcotics; act as a gentle laxative on the stomach, and bowels, relieve constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make baby healthy and strong.

You can get Baby's Own Tablets from your druggist or direct by mail from 25¢ a box. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Helps to Direct Aircraft at Croydon Airfield

Lighting automatically at sundown and going out at dawn, an acetylene beacon installed at the London-terminal airfields at Croydon, helps to direct aircraft to and from the fields and requires practically no attention. A nozzle with valve controls the supply of gas which is taken from a storage tank in the base. This valve is so sensitive to light that it closes in the morning and opens again at night or whenever darkness occurs for some other reason. Renewal of the gas tank is the only work that need be done and one container holds a supply sufficient for several weeks.

Restored To Original Meaning

Mapping Country From Aeroplanes Is Really "Surveying"

The word "surveying" has so long been applied almost exclusively to men engaged in running lines and performing other primitive duties of the civil engineer that it is rather amusing to see it restored to its original meaning of one who looks down upon a thing from above. The aeroplane has done it. Canada is mapping much of its hitherto uncharted country from flying machines. The photographs thus taken make, when pieced together, a continuous map that tells much more about the country than an ordinary map would show.—Youth's Companion.

CHAPTER VIII

Joanna Makes a Decision

After a time the girl, huddled on the floor in a heap of bobbed brown hair and clinging gown and silver stockings, legs, stopped the birth of a new bob and stifled the convulsive tremble of her bare, velvet soft shoulders. Her eyes, as quick as any to dim with moisture, which is the way of youth, selected a spot on the parlor carpet, just beyond her toes, and fixed on it. So she sat very quiet, and stared, straightening out the fumble of her bitter, very bitter thoughts. She realized that she couldn't think sensibly for the things that had happened during the hectic day they were not sensible things—any of them.

It was a trait of her to rebel when things were right; she couldn't analyze, or probe for reasons; or ask herself if she were to blame. That is, she could ask if she were to blame when things got into a jumble, but her favorable answer was "No!" Time was when the spirit of Joanna was submissive and amenable to discipline, and to the learning of lessons out of experience. That was a long time ago—before she had to make her own way about and compete with other girls—with the ones who were on the square, as well as those who weren't. She gradually lost her sense of submissiveness then. Whoever criticized her, except herself, was wrong. After her tongue grew smarter, more and more accustomed to giving than it re-

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home so weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost bed-ridden with pains and suffering until I thought there could be no help for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and suffered every month. One day when I was not able to sit up, my mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of Vegetable Compound at once. I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and have also used the Sarsaparilla Wash."—Mrs. L. L. L. Coniston, Box 109, Coniston, Ontario.
